- Regularly report on our economic, social and environmental performance and its contribution to sustainable development.
- Provide information that is timely, accurate and relevant.
- Engage with and respond to stakeholders through open consultation processes.

APPENDIX 2: GLOSSARY1. Stakeholders

Stakeholders are persons or organisations that can affect, be affected by, or perceive itself to be affected by a decision or activity of SDP. To “perceive itself to be affected” means the perception has been made known to the organisation and stakeholders can include customers, communities, suppliers, regulators, nongovernment, organisations, investors, employees. Stakeholders must be relevant to SDP’s activities and have legitimate concerns.

2. Sustainability

Sustainability is the state of the global system, which includes environmental, social and economic aspects and may be achieved through sustainable development, in which the needs of the present are met without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. The environmental, social and economic aspects interact, are interdependent and are often referred to as the three dimensions of sustainability, e.g. People, Planet and Prosperity. SDP’s progress towards sustainability will be measured against a set of principles defined in Appendix 1.

3. Critical sustainability issues

Critical sustainability issues are those issues that pose the most strategically significant risk, as a result of (i) their probability or likelihood and of (ii) the significance of their disruptive consequences to the SDP brand. These include issues related to health and safety, biodiversity, conservation, human rights, climate change, and supply chain sustainability.
